

Develop Radar to Detect Missiles 3,000 Miles Away

Will Be Put In Use Soon, Air Force Chief Says

Disclosure Follows Announcement Long Range Missile Tested

WASHINGTON — The Air Force reported today that the United States has developed radar which will detect an intercontinental ballistic missile up to 3,000 miles away.

Gen. Thomas D. White, Air Force chief of staff, said the advanced type of radar will be put into use "in the near future" to give U. S. population and military centers "instantaneous warning" of a missile attack.

White's disclosure came on the heels of Defense Department confirmation Thursday night that this country has flown a test ballistic missile for "thousands of miles."

White told the Defense Orientation Assn., meeting at the Pentagon, that the Air Force has made "recent breakthroughs in the computer, communications, radar and missiles fields."

"Work is now being actively pursued in two phases of the total system" of air defense, he said.

"Radars have now been developed which have detection ranges on an intercontinental ballistic missile out to 3,000 miles," White said.

"This system, which will provide instantaneous warning to our population and military centers, is planned for operational employment in the near future," White said.

The Army and Air Force are both working on the two key elements in defense against "the ultimate weapon"—the ICBM.

One is the long range radar White disclosed today.

The other is a missile which could be launched in the few minutes' warning time radar would give and could intercept the ICBM somewhere on its trajectory.

The Army is developing a missile called Zeus. The Air Force is in a much earlier stage of work on a device called Wizard.

Confirmation of reports that the U. S. had tested a long range ballistic missile came Thursday night in a speech to a scientific forum by William Holaday, special assistant for guided missiles to Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson.

Holaday, speaking of rocket propulsion advances, said:

"Where are we now? We have sent a test ballistic missile thousands of miles, developed rocket powered aircraft, and are about to put an earth satellite into the unknown vacuum of space."

The Russians claimed last month they had shot a missile "a huge distance." They said the test showed it was possible to direct rockets to any part of the world.

Wilson said at a news conference Thursday that the Russian announcement merely said what this country had known for some time—that intercontinental ballistic missiles are possible—and could have announced it a long time ago.

The Army was reported to have fired a three stage Jupiter-C missile last November from the test center at Cape Canaveral, Fla., that traveled about 3,600 miles over the Atlantic.

Although reports about this firing circulated widely, the Defense Department, until now, never officially confirmed it.

In the first advance copies of Holaday's speech given to newsmen earlier, he said "We have sent ballistic missiles thousands of miles." The Defense Department later corrected the sentence to read "a test ballistic missile."

$560,065 Final Saline School Aid Claim Approved

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — The largest final state aid claim ever approved for Saline county public schools was certified by Vernon L. Nickell, state superintendent of public instruction.

Nickell approved the amended claim in the amount of $560,065.53 for the school year which ended June 30, 1957, which was a part of a record statewide claim of 93,433,081.03.

The state superintendent of public instruction has certified payment of the county claim, payable to C. R. Gardner, county superintendent of schools, who in turn will disburse the claim to the districts in the county.

Saline county's original prior claim was set at $393,380.60, or $33,315.07 over its finally approved amended claim.

Pursuant to an act of the 69th Illinois General Assembly, in session in 1955, the state aid statutes were changed to provide for two claims to be filed with Nickell's office, by counties. School districts are required to file state aid "prior" claims by November 1 of the school year for which claims are sought. Amount of annual claim is determined according to statutory formulae for the September and October school months. Monthly payments against the claims are made by Nickell's office for six months beginning in January. This newer type of distribution considerably lessens the previous waiting period by school districts for state aid from the common school fund.

A second claim, the amended claim, is filed and approved on September 15. Many districts experience drops in average daily attendance, the basis for computing claims, during the months which follow the applicable months for prior claims. As a result, their amended claims are somewhat lower for the year than originally set forth in the prior claims. Under an arrangement made by Nickell with the office of the auditor of public accounts, the last four monthly installments of state aid for any given year are revised upward or downward so that at the end of the twelfth and final installment of a given school year, the amended claim total has been recapitulated and paid.

The wreck occurred at 2:20 a. m. Thursday and wreckers were dispatched from Paducah and Centralia. Soon scores of Illinois Central officials and workers from Kentucky and southern Illinois were on hand.

The wreckers started pushing the wreckage off the tracks, leaving it several feet from the trackbed. As they removed a car, a group of tracklayers would move in and rebuild the track ahead. Then the wrecker would move in on the rebuilt track and get another car out of the way. This continued throughout the night until all the cars were off the trackbed and the track was completely rebuilt for the approximately 300 feet affected.

A dining car was on hand to feed the workers.

The 138-car train was en route from Paducah to Bluff, Ill., when the crash occurred.

CENTRALIA CHORUS NOT AT MT. MORIAH TONIGHT

An error in the announcement concerning the approaching visit of the Centralia "Golden Echoes" chorus stated the group would appear at Mt. Moriah church tonight. The group will not present its program until Sunday, Oct. 20.

ALL THAT IS LEFT OF A HOUSE TRAILER is shown in this photo taken on Route 145 two miles north of Eddyville yesterday after the trailer overturned. State Policeman Adolph Sweet said the trailer was being pulled by an auto driven by Bobby Pate, 24, Crossville, who with his wife, Marilyn, 22, were en route to enroll at Murray State College. The trailer began weaving on the Milo Meier hill and overturned, the trailer and all its contents being demolished. Mr. and Mrs. Pate and their 18-month-old baby, who were in the auto, were not hurt. Bill Webber (left) and Sylvester Garner, who took a wrecker to the scene from Mitchell's service station, survey the damage. (A. Sweet Photo)

Arrested as Parole Violator

Tommy Gene Gibbs, who had been paroled from Menard penitentiary, was picked up last night in Gaskins City as a parole violator by county and city officers. He had been sentenced from Johnson county on a burglary and larceny charge.

The actual score on this fall's enrollment won't be known until mid-October when the machines finish digesting the data.

They may give some clue to where the enrollment has fallen off within the university's activities.

But in the meantime, Ray gave his best guesses about why it was happening.

And he said, the shift is occurring at other universities and colleges in the Midwest and may turn out to be nationwide.

According to Ray, the "fundamental explanation" will very likely turn out to reflect economic conditions.

He pointed to "higher tuition, higher cost of living, inability of students to find summer jobs, money for college training less freely available to parents."

"Money is tighter," he said.

"It is likely that this year, probably for economic reasons . . . the proportion of high school graduates going to college has not increased materially and the proportion of students continuing in college has been somewhat reduced," he reported to the board.

The slack in enrollment might also reflect a drop in the birthrate 18 years ago, stiffer entrance qualifications that have "raised a bar."

Previously predicted total enrollment had called for 24,400 students, but the final enrollment for this fall is now estimated at 22,700.

That would be a drop of 1,700 students from what had been expected this year and 342 less than actually were enrolled as of Oct. 12, 1956.

Harrisburg Brick, Tile Plant Will Not Be Rebuilt; to Subdivide Area

Another economic blow hit Harrisburg this week when the Harrisburg Brick and Tile Co. announced it would not rebuild its plant at the south end of Main street.

Announcement was made by A. P. Rosche of Hillsboro, Ill., one of the three owners.

A large part of the plant burned down in a disastrous fire Sept. 3 and announcement was eagerly awaited as to whether it would be rebuilt. The plant employs 26 men.

Mr. Rosche, in announcing the plant would not be rebuilt, said the area would be cleared off and subdivided to sell for residential structures.

Five acres, he stated, would be reserved as a plant site. There are 500 feet of railroad siding in this area.

On the plant site, Mr. Rosche said, the five acres would be sold as is or they would build to suit the tenant.

Mr. Rosche and E. G. Hurst of Hillsboro and R. S. Burberry of Benton bought the Ford Brick and Tile Co. June 8, 1956, and changed the name to the Harrisburg Brick and Tile Co. They bought it from Lee Morse, principal stockholder who had been associated with the plant nearly fifty years. Charles B. Ford and Alma Johnson.

The Ford Brick and Tile Co. had been at its present location since 1907, when it was founded by the late J. B. Ford. Mr. Ford had bought the town's first brick business, located on West Poplar street, and moved it to the south part of town.

Bus Containing 62 Mexican Workers Overtakes on Rt. 45

A bus containing 62 Mexican migratory workers overturned on Route 45 about four miles south of Stonefort around 5 p. m. yesterday and eight received minor injuries, Johnson county deputies reported.

The group was en route from Michigan to Texas and was driven by Moises Molina Jr., 49, 727 South Adeline street, Raymond, Texas. He was driving for the Bracero Transportation Co., Inc., of Edinburg, Texas.

The deputies said that the bus overturned on its side on the shoulder when a wheel left the pavement and hit soft dirt, the driver losing control and the bus overturning.

A wrecker was called from Vienna and the bus was righted. It operated satisfactorily and resumed its trip. The deputies stated the driver was to stop at Vienna for the eight persons to receive first aid treatment.

Saline County School Enrollment Off 232 from Last Term: Gardner

Saline county school enrollment is off 232 this year over the last term according to figures compiled by C. R. Gardner, county superintendent of schools, of open enrollment this year and last.

During the past two years, he commented, the decrease has been 532 pupils.

There were decreases in 14 districts, increases in 11, one broke even, and three districts dissolved and annexed to other districts, sending the pupils there. Dissolved since last term are Lakeview, East Ledford and Cottage Grove. Lakeview was added to Carrier Mills, East Ledford to Harrisburg and Cottage Grove to Districts 99, 43 and 54.

Harrisburg high school showed a decrease of 32, from 829 to 797. Eldorado gained eight from 455 to 463. Galatia gained one from 188 to 189 and Carrier Mills lost 1 from 221 to 220.

Total school enrollment in the county was 5,772, compared with 6,004 for the previous year.

Mr. Gardner's figures showed the following figures for elementary school districts in Saline county:

Galatia, a gain of 28 from 243 to 271; Brushy, a decrease of six from 69 to 63; Holmes, a gain of one from 12 to 13; Carrier Mills, a gain of ten from 479 to 489; Raleigh, a decrease of two from 136 to 134;

Wasson, a decrease of 12 from 49 to 37; Muddy, a decrease of six from 68 to 62; South Willford, a gain of three from 25 to 28;

IC Track, Torn Up by Wreck, Is Open to Traffic

The Edgewood line of the Illinois Central railroad, torn up early yesterday by the derailment of a coal and freight train two miles east of Stonefort, was cleared, repaired and opened to rail traffic at 9 a. m. today.

O. H. Zimmerman of Chicago, Illinois Central vice president in charge of operations, was on hand this morning and announced that the derailment and wreck was caused by a burned-out journal. The wheel with its journal burned and chewed down to a nub was found early last night by workers. The journal is the part of the axle that extends on the outside of the wheel into a journal box.

Mr. Zimmerman said that workmen would start Monday removing the vast wreckage. The company was still undecided, he said, on what to do with the coal in the wreckage adding "we will dispose of it the best way we can."

Of the 34 cars derailed on the 138-car train, 26 were loaded with stoker coal. A railroad car contains 60 tons of coal. The coal was being shipped from Kentucky mines.

The wreck occurred at 2:20 a. m. Thursday and wreckers were dispatched from Paducah and Centralia. Soon scores of Illinois Central officials and workers from Kentucky and southern Illinois were on hand.

The wreckers started pushing the wreckage off the tracks, leaving it several feet from the trackbed. As they removed a car, a group of tracklayers would move in and rebuild the track ahead. Then the wrecker would move in on the rebuilt track and get another car out of the way. ## Telephone Strike Ends

NEW YORK — A contract agreement ended today a four-day strike of telephone equipment installers that partially disrupted long-distance telephone service across the nation.

Federal mediator Walter Maggilo announced the settlement shortly before 1 a. m. e. d. t. climaxed two days of marathon negotiations.

Most of the 23,800 striking installers were expected to return to their jobs today. The installers, members of the Communications Workers of America, are employed by the Western Electric Co., the manufacturing arm of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. They install telephone equipment in telephone exchanges in all states with the exception of Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont and Montana.

In Atlanta, a spokesman for the southeastern local of the CWA said installers in that area would not return to work until disciplinary action was withdrawn against non-striking employees who observed the union's picket lines. A company spokesman said, however, that he had not heard of any employees being suspended because of refusing to cross picket lines.

The President's Leadership

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT
Obviously any particular leader in government will not satisfy all his countrymen. There are too many different ideas in America as to what constitutes good leadership.

Quite a number criticize President Eisenhower as not being a "strong leader."

By the customary measurements of "strong" leadership, he probably is not. He does not do aggressive battle for most of his programs. He does not spring to the microphone to offer powerful utterance on pressing popular issues, like the current civil rights controversy.

Nor does the President try to drive his enemies into a corner or beat them without mercy.

All this his critics find vastly irritating and frustrating. They want action and strong words. Usually they want it all the time, whatever the issue or the situation.

If Mr. Eisenhower served for eight terms he would most likely never satisfy those who feel thus.
He tries to soften controversy, not sharpen it. He refuses to throw himself into bitter combat. And when he is engaged in any kind of battle, he tries to leave his adversaries an avenue of retreat.

It was such an avenue which Gov. Orval Faubus of Arkansas availed himself of when he telegraphed the President asking for an opportunity to confer on the Little Rock situation.

This is not a "strong" course.
But evidently it is one many Americans nevertheless approve.

All but the President's severest opponents say his policy had real effect in lessening the domestic bitterness of the McCarthy era.
There are positive signs, too, that more than once it has kept world trouble spots from flaring dangerously and perhaps imperiling the general peace.

Only the judgments of history determine whether strong or gentle or weak leadership was right for a people at a particular moment in time. However understandable, it is arbitrary to declare flatly that only one kind of leadership is good—no matter what the circumstances.

Strong leaders may be good in certain periods, bad in others.
The same is true for the gentle type, like Mr. Eisenhower. The man who fails to concede this simply defines the narrowness of his own outlook.

The miracle of democracy seems

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

(Editor's Note: Drew Pearson today continues his report from the explosive Balkans and the Near East.)

DREW PEARSON Says: America Is Winning The Battle Against Moscow Through People-To-People Friendship;
American Colleges In Greece
Offset Washington's Boo-Boos; Moscow Circus Loses Out To American Ice Show.

ATHENS. — Keeping the allegiance of strategic countries in this part of the world is a constant struggle between the destructive effect of John Foster Dulles' boo-boos and the constructive work of people-to-people friendship. In this key country of Greece, however, we seem to be winning the battle—thanks to three factors:

1. The American colleges in Greece whose alumni have organized against the Kremlin.
2. The basic good sense of the Greek people who differentiate between American good intentions and official faux pas.

3. A cultural program engineered by Dr. Duncan Emrich of the U. S. Information Service which outcultured Moscow's frantic bid to undercut us in the Balkans.

You have to remember what most Congressmen don't remember, that it's a simple matter for Moscow to send all sorts of entertainment to Greece. They hop from Roumania and Bulgaria—both Iron Curtain countries—down to Greece at almost no extra expense. U. S. Information, in contrast, has the expense of transporting cultural programs half way round the world.

However, when the famed Moscow ballet arrived in Athens it was not a howling success. Its ballet dancers were guarded by a stony-faced Kremlin chaperone who did not permit them to mix with a single Greek. This is not the way to win friends in Athens.

BALLET VS. GILLESPIE

In competition, and playing alternate afternoons and evenings in the same theatre, was Dizzy Gillespie's jazz orchestra. It too was no howling success; and the inebriated behavior of some musicians won no friends among Athenian women. So the battle of the ballet vs. Gillespie was a draw, except that the Russian dancers were fascinated with the Negro jazz players.

The American Ballet Theatre, on the other hand, was a tremendous success; while the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra, playing in the 2,000-year-old theatre of Herod of Athens alongside the Acropolis, was forced to play more encores than any orchestra in Athens.

Latest contest between Communist and free-world entertainment occurred between the Moscow Circus and an American-produced skating pageant called "Holiday On Ice." I went to both. The clowns at the Moscow Circus were probably the best in the world, and I have been going to circuses since Wallace-Hagenbach played "Parsons, Kans., in 1908. The Russian bear act was better than any animal act my friend John Ringling North has brought to Ringling Brothers since it combined with Barnum and Bailey—even if one bear did defect to the West.

However, "Holiday On Ice" outdrew the Moscow Circus, partly because it was staged to raise money for the four American colleges in Greece and the alumni of these colleges were out hustling tickets.

These schools are Aantolia Col-

House; Athens College for Men, headed by Homer Davis; and Pierce College of Women in Athens, headed by Raymond Blak-ney.

Until this year, their alumni had never been organized. Nor had the Greek shipowners been mobilized on the side of people-to-people friendship. However, when Dr. Emrich suggested to John Goulandris, owner of the SS Olympic and SS Queen Frederika, that he stage a party aboard ship for the alumni of the four American colleges, this began a potent alumni organization which beats the hard corps of Communists sent from Moscow.

Furthermore it doesn't cost Congress any money.

Emrich has found various ways of promoting friendship despite the penny-pinching in Congress.
He arranged with Alkemos Gratos, another shipowner, to let 24 Greek students work their way to the United States every year to study in American colleges.
This is in addition to the Fulbright scholars.

He has also arranged with Pfeer and Simon in New York for the publication of pocket editions of famous American books, with the result that Walt Whitman has become a best seller in Greece, together with Charles Lindbergh's
"The Spirit of St. Louis" and Stephen Crane's "The Red Badge of Courage."

The books, which sell for only six drachmas (18 cents) brought screams of anguish from the Communist newspaper Avghi. Emrich, complained Avghi, "has penetrated every facet of Greece."

It takes more than money to build a firm friendship between any peoples. Money is necessary to keep a nation alive and to finance its army. But mere money without personal friendship can cause bitterness.

Various factors have helped build friendship in Greece; such as the annual examinations held by the University of Michigan for ability to use the English language. This is taken by thousands of young Greeks and has helped to make English the second language of the land. To work in a modern Greek business establishment where English is important, an applicant usually has to pass the University of Michigan test.

Four members of the Greek cabinet were picked by the State Department—before they entered the cabinet—as potential leaders and given "leaders grants" to tour the United States. This is an all-expense-paid invitation to visit the United States issued by the State Department to editors, mayors, doctors and professors of various countries throughout the world.

The State Department was wise in its choice of potential Greek leaders, for one of them, Constantine Carmanlis, is now prime minister; another, Constantine Tsatsos, is minister to the prime minister; while George Rhalys is minister of public works and Aristides Propapadakis is minister of defense.

The fact that these cabinet members have visited the United States does not mean they are the servants of the United States—as some congressman want them to be. It does mean that they understand and sympathize with the United States. For you can't buy a proud people with either dollars or food. Friendship is something you must keep working at every day in the year.

Silver leather in two textures is used (upper center) for pump that's pale silver at front and gunmetal at back. Shaped heel is medium height. American beauty suede leather is used

(lower left) for slender pump embroidered at the front in black braid. Curved Louis heel is mid-height. There's elegance for evening (lower center) in this pump of silver crushed leather with butterfly bow of glittering rhinestones. By Ida B. Coyle

Mr. and Mrs. Philip DeVous and Mr. and Mrs. David Sanks attended the dinner meeting of the Southern Illinois Dinner Club at the Kurto Country Club, Harrisburg, on Tuesday evening, Sept. 17. Dr. John Furbay, a top aviation officer who has been around the world more than 120 times, was the speaker for the evening and his talk was most interesting.

Mrs. Ira Adams was in West Frankfort Wednesday last week and Mrs. Adams and Mrs. Frank Pierce were in Eldorado on Thursday to attend the Fall Seminars and Officers Training Schools of the Methodist Church.

A nursery shower, honoring Mrs. James Spahr, was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Ridder of near Equality Sunday evening. Refreshments of cake, coffee and cold drinks were served.

Her death was deeply mourned as was evidenced by the many lovely floral tributes and by the large number who attended the funeral.

The First Church of God is serving a noon dinner and conducting a bake sale in the hatchery building on Main street on Saturday, September 21. The public is invited.

A childrens birthday party was enjoyed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Franc Thursday afternoon.

ternoon last week in celebration of the 6th anniversary of their son, Gary. A number of girls and boys were present and a program of childrens' games were enjoyed. Many gifts were received by the honoree and nice refreshments were served.

TUESDAY CLUB RESUMES MEETINGS

The Equality Tuesday Club opened their 1957-58 year on Monday evening, September 16, with a dinner meeting at Santy's Cafe in Harrisburg at 6:30 o'clock. Nineteen members and guests were present. A delightful chicken dinner with all the trimmings, a cranberry salad and the dinner topped with a dessert of delicious angel pie was served and thoroughly enjoyed by all.

Prayer was offered by Miss Virginia Sapp of Honduras one of the club's special guests. Following the meal the guests were welcomed and a few timely opening remarks were made by the outgoing president, Mrs. Ira Adams and an interesting program was presented. Roll call response was "Summer Activities," which proved a pleasing feature. This was followed by a timely installation service of the new officers by Miss Leah Kemp—Mrs. J. E. McCue, president; Mrs. M. C. Mangis, vice president; Mrs. David R. Sanks, secretary and treasurer; Mrs. J. A. Womack, corresponding secretary; Mrs. J. C. Coyle, historian, and Mrs. Adams, parliamentarian.

Appropriate small gifts were presented the officers by Miss Kemp during the installation. The new president in behalf of the new corps of officers thanked the members and asked their usual cooperation during the coming year.

The new program books were distributed and admired by the members and the committee in charge duly commended for the attractive year books. A pleasant social hour was enjoyed and the meeting closed with repeating the club collect in unison.

"FIRST LINE"
doesn't mean anything anymore!
Today, don't buy tires just because someone says they are "first line" tires... it really doesn't mean anything anymore.
The two largest tire manufacturers in the U. S. have stopped classifying any of their tires as "first line." Why? Because the "first line" of one brand may be of entirely different quality from the so-called "first line" tire of another brand.
Today, leading tire manufacturers sell you tires according to the quality and the price, and not according to "first line," "second line," or "third line."
Don't buy tires because somebody says they're "first line" or "premium"... just remember, those so-called "first line" tires might not be as good quality as somebody else's tires that might be called "second" or "third line."
When you go to buy tires, and you want to get the most for your money, you go to a tire dealer you know and trust, and buy the brand in which you have confidence.

CMCHS Student Council Sponsors 'Dress Right' Campaign to Improve Appearance

The Carrier Mills high school Student Council, with the full cooperation of the faculty and members of the board of education, is sponsoring a program designed to improve the appearance of students attending the CMCHS.

The drive isn't for "fancy" clothes, but neat appearance of all students.

The Student Council bans the wearing of jeans or other "boyish" attire by the girls and on the not approved list for boys is the "low-slung" trousers without belt and also the unbuttoned shirt, along with other sloppy ways of wearing boys' clothing.

The entire student body has entered into the spirit of the "dress right" campaign and enjoyed the style show presented during the assembly period earlier this week.

Principal Carl Dillow, in his opening remarks, stated "The Student Council and faculty agree that if we are to upgrade our dress habits it is proper to use some time to give a brief style show to show appropriate attire for various occasions." Mr. Dillow also stressed the show was not staged as a commercial affair, but that he did want to express the school's appreciation to Hart's of Harrisburg and Henshaw's Clothing of Carrier Mills for their cooperation in furnishing part of the clothing for the program. The students also modeled some of their own clothes.

Skirts, blouses, sweaters, and tailored dresses for the girls and levis, denim jackets, plaid skirts, plus Ivy-league styles for boys were included in the show.

Pride in personal appearance will reflect in all phases of school life, the Student Council believes.

Bob Wells of Johnston City, representing Josten's company, was making a regular call at CMCHS at the time of the style show and stated that to the best of his knowledge this was the first affair of its kind in southern Illinois and he would request his company to award a plaque to the school in recognition of the program to "upgrade its dress habits."

Those present were, Ona Wasson, Wavel Roberts, Ethel Lynch, Mari Anna Carrier, Gertie Butler, and Stella Parkinson. Mary Lois Bynum was a dinner guest.

WHAT HAPPENED TO THE HORSESHOE?

It entered the realm of the old-fashioned, along with the buggy whip, when automobiles appeared on the scene. As people became persuaded that the car offered a swifter, more economical means of transportation than the horse, they took up the new way; abandoned the old... It's an American trait to embrace ways of doing things that save time and money. That's why millions of Americans use the checking service provided by America's banks.

Faubus Lawyers Walk Out After U. S. Judge Rejects All Motions

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — All three of Gov. Orval Faubus' lawyers walked out of a federal courtroom today in the midst of a hearing on a petition to enjoin Faubus to integrate Central High School.

U. S. District Judge Ronald N. Davies turned down every motion that Faubus' attorneys entered. As he finally turned down two motions to dismiss the petition for an injunction, attorney Tom Harper arose.

Harper said he wanted to make a statement. He said he stood on the motions that had been denied and that in view of the denials, he and the other lawyers asked to be excused.

He said they wanted no further part of the proceedings. The other two lawyers are Kay Matthews and Walter Pope of Little Rock.

They were stopped at the elevator outside the courtroom by newsmen and Harper said, in reply to a clamor of questions: "Let me make this clear. I do not ever comment on pending litigation. You are wasting my time and your time by asking questions."

After they left, the court started taking testimony. The first witness was William G. Cooper Jr., president of the school board, who said he knew nothing about any impending violence at Central High and neither did the school board.

Faubus contended that he was not opposed to integration as such, but that he called out the National Guard at Central High to prevent violence he knew integration would provoke.

School Supt. Virgil Blossom, as the second witness, sketched in the background of the plan to integrate Central High gradually. He explained how nine Negro students were carefully screened and transferred from their own schools to Central.

Both Cooper and Blossom said they had not asked that the militia be called out.

Court Agrees to Hear Charges in Union Election

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal judge agreed today to consider a request for a court investigation of alleged "rigging" of the union's forthcoming election in favor of James R. Hoffa.

The unusual appeal for court intervention, which could delay the union's scheduled Sept. 30 election convention, was filed by 13 rank and file members.

Judge F. Dickinson Letts told attorneys for the group to draft, for his immediate consideration and possible issuance, an order calling on the Teamsters' leadership to appear Sept. 27 and show cause why the election should not be postponed.

The judge said he would require members of the Teamster Executive Board who are named in the suit, including Hoffa, to be notified of the show-cause hearing by the close of business Tuesday. Most of the officials are in Miami attending to pre-convention business.

Attorney Godfrey P. Schmidt viewed Judge Letts' decision as a victory for the 13 New York Teamsters seeking to delay the election.

TV Notes

Then it will play five weeks in a Los Angeles theater before moving into the color studios in Burbank, Calif., to be tailored for the air.

The feminine lead in ABC's new "Zorro" filmed series has been given to 22-year-old Eugenia Paul, native of Detroit. She will play the daughter of a California ranchero who falls in love with the Robin Hood-like hero, played by Guy Williams.

Johnny Carson, who had several comedy shows on CBS in recent years, turns up this season as master of ceremonies for the five-a-week version of "Do You Trust

Participation In Soil Bank Far Under Last Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — Participation in the Agriculture Department's 1958 soil bank program for wheat is lagging far behind last year's level, the department reported today.

Officials said that in the first three weeks of the 1958 soil bank acreage reserve sign-up, through Sept. 13, farmers had agreed to take 1,511,260 acres of winter wheat out of production. In the same period a year ago, 4,252,662 acres had been enrolled in the acreage reserve.

The program is designed to reduce surplus farm production. Farmers who sign acreage reserve contracts to reduce production below their federal acreage allotments earn federal payments in return. Payments on winter wheat contracts covered in today's announcement will total $30,527,216.

Sign-up for the 1958 winter wheat program will continue thru Oct. 4. The Agriculture Department's soil bank goal for winter and spring wheat combined is 8 million acres.

Gov't Investment In Price Supports Shows Decrease

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government investment in farm price supports dropped 11 per cent in the 12 months ended June 30, the Agriculture Department has reported.

The department's Commodity Credit Corp. owned or held price support loans on surplus farm products valued at $7,338,081,000 on June 30. This compared to $8,257,308,000 held on the same date a year earlier.

While farm surpluses were shrinking the government's losses on price support operation rose nearly one-third of a billion dollars. Net losses for the 12 months were $1,299,477,341 compared with $974,767,365 in the previous year.

The June 30 surplus stockpile included government-owned commodities valued at $5,371,252,000 and price support loans of $1,966,829,000.

U. I. Receives $300,000 Gift For Art Museum

CHICAGO (AP) — The University of Illinois today announced a gift of $300,000 from an Indianapolis businessman for an art museum on the Champaign-Urbana campus.

The gift, reported by University President David D. Henry, to the September board of trustees meeting, was made by Herman C. Krannert.

In explaining the gift, Henry said the proposed building would house the university's art collection which includes the Trees collection of European and American art, the Ewing collection of Balinese and East Asiatic art, the Lorado Taft sculptures and a collection of contemporary American painting and sculpture.

Upon Henry's recommendation the board approved the name Krannert Art Museum for the building.

The building will be an independent structure located near the present Fine Art and Applied Arts Center. It will cost an estimated $500,000.

Krannert, a native of Chicago and a U. of I. graduate in 1912, made the gift through the Krannert Foundation.

Krannert is presently chairman of the board of Inland Container Corp. and the Anderson Box Co. He and his wife live at Normandy Farm near New Augusta, Ind.

Rule Loan Firms Cannot Require Life Insurance

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — The Illinois Supreme Court ruled today that small loan companies cannot require a borrower to buy life insurance as security for his loan in the event of death.

The court, in effect, upheld a 1949 ruling of the state Insurance Department which said that "no borrower shall be required to purchase life insurance as a condition precedent to a loan."

Sangamon County Circuit Judge De Witt S. Crow had ruled the regulation invalid, but he was overruled by the Appellate Court. The Supreme Court upheld the Appellate Court.

Glenn H. Sunderland, Newton, doing business as Ambraw Finance Co., brought the case on which the court ruled.

Illinois Museum Paper to Describe Indian Articles

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — A number of copper articles used by ancient Indians in Illinois and resembling yo-yos will be described in a paper, "Rutherford Mound - Hardin County, Illinois," to be published this fall by the Illinois State Museum.

Melvin L. Fowler, curator of anthropology and author of the paper, will recount the archaeological excavations performed by the Museum in 1954 at Rutherford Mound, near Cave-in-Rock.

The copper articles, which resemble spoons and bear a striking similarity to children's yo-yos, were discovered in the hands of Indians buried in the mound almost a thousand years ago. Evidence of twine was found wrapped around the spoons, along with fragments of finger-size rings worked from shell.

Dr. Joseph R. Caldwell, head curator of anthropology, who pointed out the similarity, believes with Fowler, however, that the spoons were actually ornaments worn on the ears of these ancient residents of Illinois.

In burials at other sites, they stated, the copper spoons were located near the ear opening of Indian skulls.

Although there is this suggestion that they may have been used as yo-yos, Museum anthropologists say there is little evidence to support the inference that such was the case.

Hopewellian statuettes found in other excavations appear to exhibit such spoons as ear ornaments. It is also thought that the twine found on the spoons was used to attach the ear ornaments to head-dresses near the ears.

New Legion Chief Says U. S. Still No. 1 Red Target

John S. Gleason Jr., Chicago Banker, Elected Commander

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP) — The new national commander of the American Legion told the delegates to the group's 39th national convention that the United States was still the principal target of the Communist plan for world conquest and domination.

John S. Gleason Jr., 42, a Chicago banker, urged that there be no slackening "of our moral, spiritual and physical defenses."

Gleason was elected commander of the Legion Thursday at the closing session of the convention. He succeeds W. C. (Dan) Daniel.

The new national chaplain is the Rev. Feltham S. James, pastor of the 158-year-old Bethel Methodist Church, Charleston, S. C., and winner of a Freedoms Foundation gold medal for an outstanding sermon.

Gleason's acceptance speech followed an address by FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover who denied reports of a drop in Communist Party membership in the U. S.

The Legion cited Hoover for his "staunch leadership in this nation's fight against the evils of communism."

Hoover said that as long as the Red undercover apparatus exists, the Communist threat cannot be brushed aside as trivial or fanciful.

Alvin Owsley, American Legion representative to the trial of Army Specialist 3C William Girard, urged the re-examination of all security treaties to provide safety clauses for American servicemen abroad. He said that Girard would get a fair trial in Japan.

The 40 and 8, an affiliate of the Legion, elected William E. Armstrong, Hot Springs, Ark., its grand chief de chemin.

precipately the intellectual level of the student body" and the attraction of the Army's six-month enlistment program, he said.

But the economic pressure is noticeable.

"The demand for student loans is increasing and fewer students can put down all the cash needed for the full tuition right away," he said.

University trustee Wayne A. Johnston, president of Illinois Central Railroad, told the board that a survey he had made among rail and banking firms showed that starting salaries for non-college students have been going up.

That may be a reason for the decline, too, he said, and it would have a greater effect on a state institution like Illinois than on a private school.

Dr. David D. Henry, university president, said the slight drop may be a blessing in disguise.

He pointed out that for the college population as a whole, "we are still at the bottom of the curve and it won't start to go up sharply until 1960."

"In some ways, this decline gives us a year of grace we didn't anticipate to get ready for the crush," Henry said.

And the crush when it comes will be a big one.

"Births in Illinois during 1957 are running to approximately double the number (122,654) in 1939, the year in which most of this fall's college freshmen were born," Ray said.

XXXI
WHEN the wind died and the dust settled, late, I got restless and I left the porch and walked over to the livery. Owen strained up out of the chair and stood there pulling with his fingers on the fat of his cheek.

"You know about the meeting?" he asked.
I shook my head.

Owen said, "Commerce Committee. Jordan Peterson sent me word."

"Better keep away," I said. "Better keep your nose out of it."

I went on into the barn and up to the loft. I got my rifle and came down again. Owen looked hard at the rifle. "Your rifle?"

I nodded. "It's a new one. United States government gave it to me."

I could see that put me up a notch or two with Owen. I went back to the hotel and sat on the top step of the porch and rubbed the dust off the barrel of the Sharps with my shirt sleeve. I said, "Owen says Peterson called a meeting for tonight."

"Expected that," Blanchard said. "Want me to look in, like before?"

"No need. They got to work it out themselves."

John McNabb came by just before supper time. He leaned on the porch railing and looked hard at Blanchard. McNabb said, "There's a meeting, marshal."

"I know. Pike found out."

"I been talkin' to Peterson. I think he sees it the right way now."

"That's fine. If it isn't too late."

The meeting lasted half an hour, near as I could tell. Then I saw Jordan Peterson walking north on the boards toward the hotel. When he got close I saw that his eyebrows were hauled together to make a mess of wrinkles out of his forehead and the corners of his mouth turned down. He looked like he'd been hit along side the ear with something hard and heavy. He stopped at the steps and stared at Blanchard.

Peterson said, "I did what you wanted. I tried. You were wrong. It's not just me in this town, you know."

Blanchard took a match out of his mouth and flipped it into the street. "That a surprise, Mr. Peterson?"

"I . . . it doesn't matter. John McNabb talked, too. It didn't help. We took a vote. It was John and me and one other against the rest."

"Means we're about where we were before. No better off, not especially worse."

"That's too bad."

"Well, what is there now? What does it mean?"

PETERSON rubbed his eyes in a tired way. "Tell me, marshal. What is there I can do now?"

Blanchard was quiet for a time. Then, soft, he said, "You could ride out and talk to the Clements."

"What good would that do? One man."

"No other man carries the weight you do."

"Except maybe you."

A smile hit Blanchard's mouth and was gone. He said, "That's so. Tell you what. Maybe we both should go. Then you tell the Clements that either they turn Pete loose or you stop buying their hides."

Peterson shook his head, slow. "I've been 12 years trying to get a footing in this town, marshal. First cattle, then buffalo hides. Working night and day, neglecting my family, ruining my health. Last year I felt I'd made it. Now you ask me to throw it away."

"There's a lesson there, Mr. Peterson. When you get a footing, make sure it's on solid ground."

"Well, I can't do it, marshal. It wouldn't help, anyway. This doesn't have anything to do with hides, or business. This is something else that I don't understand." Peterson turned away from the porch and took a few steps north.

Peterson walked off slow with his head down and rounded the corner heading toward the tracks. I never thought I'd see the day that I felt a little sorry for Jordan Peterson but I felt that way right then.

"Why, Pike?" Blanchard said. "Why wouldn't people follow Peterson and McNabb?"

"Still scared, Harney."

"Maybe. Then maybe they don't want to mix in any fight to save my reputation. Do you think that's what all this is for?"

"Could be. 'There's some stupid ones."

"Maybe not stupid, Pike. I'm still not sure myself. But I see where a reputation might be a stone around a man's neck sometimes. Even a good reputation."

I SAW the buggy down at the south end of Chicago St., coming out the street from the west, the horses moving at a fast trot. I stood up to see better. It turned and went south toward the ferry and in just a little time it dropped away over the hill. But there was a little shine to the buggy from lights on the street. I was pretty sure it was Cole Jethroe heading back to the Clements' after stopping off at Lillian's. I heard Blanchard breathing close to me and I felt his hand grip my arm hard.

Lillian was at the steps before I saw her. Blanchard jumped off the porch and went to her and put his hands on her shoulders. Then I saw her excited eyes. Blanchard said, "Was that Cole?"

"Yes. Listen, both of you. He wanted me to come out to the basin with him. I told him I couldn't go because of Dick. I'm afraid . . . I think this is the time. At the basin. Tonight. Soon!"

READY AND EAGER — Fred Wilmoth of Harrisburg looks both ready and eager for the coming football season as he dashes across the gridiron at West Point. The Army football information book for 1957 has the following to say about Wilmoth—"Fred Wilmoth, '39, 6.3, 240, 22, tackle, Harrisburg, Ill. The biggest man on the squad, he won his letter as a tackle last year, and is slated for a first-string assignment this fall. Was a three letter man at Harrisburg Township High School, and captained the basketball team. Played J. V. basketball last winter. Attended the University of Illinois for 2 years and won a letter before receiving his appointment to the Military Academy. Nicknamed 'Tiny'. Favorite pastime is reading." Wilmoth is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wilmoth, 103 West College street.

Eagles Lose Lineman by Injury; Gain Another

There will be one change in Eldorado's starting lineup this evening from last Friday as the Eagles lost one lineman by injury and gained one through late enrollment.

Ronnie Rains, 172-pound junior lineman, suffered a leg injury last week at Marion and has not been in uniform this week. In fact he spent three days in a hospital receiving treatment.

Mike McMahon, 6-2, 200 pound junior tackle, enrolled at the ETHS Monday and is being groomed for a starting berth.

McMahon, who came to Eldorado with his family from Wyoming in the summer before his freshman year, was the only sophomore to earn a varsity letter last year. Just before the end of the 1956-57 term the family moved back to Wyoming, but now they have again returned to Eldorado and "Big Mike" is being counted on as a regular tackle.

QUESTION OF REACH

Grayson Picks Basilio Over Robinson

NEW YORK — (NEA) — As it comes to all men—especially old ones—there is an end to everything.

And it is our guess that Ray Robinson finally will reach the end of the line, say along about the 10th of his scheduled 15-round middleweight championship match with Carmen Basilio at Yankee Stadium, Sept. 23.

Basilio is bandy-legged and anything but a classic, stand-up boxer. The guy from Chittanooga gets hit more than is good for him. He's a bleeder, particularly about the eyes. He left hooks from the hip because he can't generate power from the shoulder, protecting his head by dipping it to the right.

Basilio can be faulted on several counts. The welter champion is quite certain to be in all kinds of trouble in the first four or five rounds. It will not be surprising to see him on the floor.

But Camen can fight and at the finish, it is our idea that it will be Basilio shocking the aging Robinson with left hooks to the head, sapping his strength inside, slowing his reflexes.

Unless one or the other goes out quickly, this one figures to be an exciting fight.

That's the biggest risk Basilio runs — the desperately anxious Robinson landing a clean shot while he still has his strength. The Harlem Hotshot has convinced even the more ardent Basilio rooters that he is a past master at this.

AN OLD FORMULA for picking the winners of fights has been close to infallible through the years. It is that whenever you are in doubt about the outcome, pick the younger man.

There most certainly is doubt about the outcome of the Basilio-Robinson battle, and the onion picker is seven or eight years younger. The book shows Robby to be 37, but some in position to know say he is 38. The difference in age easily could offset Robby's eight or nine-pound weight pull and advantages in height and reach.

Basilio is big enough if good enough. He has the equipment to win if he knows what to do with it. He has the right pattern—provided he sticks to it. This is to keep Robinson busy, never give him a second's rest. Robby cuts easily, too.

There are the pictures of at least four of Robinson's starts since he launched his comeback. Tiger Ralph Jones whacked him around for 10 rounds. He was frightful beating one Johnny Lombardi. He was just another middleweight on the floor against hesitating Rocky Castellani. He then won the permanent championship of Bobo Olson.

THERE IS THE MEMORY of Robinson fighting the very ordinary Gene Fullmer the first time. Yes, he went 15, but that was about all he accomplished.

"He was afraid he would get tired and be carted out like Archie Moore against Rocky Marciano," Ernie Braca, one of his managers, explained.

Sure, Robinson put a lily in Fullmer's hand in the fifth round of their return, when the Utah copper welder moved in with the sign of welcome on his chin. But Robby was tiring by the minute even though Fullmer made the fatal mistake of not lugging the trouble to him.

Basilio does not tire or get discouraged. He can take a punch and will take plenty of them. But Robinson will find that Basilio al-

Braves, Yankees Start Their Best Hurlers In Effort to Wrap Up League Pennants

By United Press
The New York Yankees and Milwaukee Braves put their best pitchers forward tonight when they set out on "operation lockup" against the Boston Red Sox and Chicago Cubs.

The Yankees, who can clinch Casey Stengel's eighth American League pennant in nine years by winning four of their last eight games even if the Chicago White Sox win all their 10, are sending Whitey Ford against the Red Sox while the Braves, whose "magic number" is six, have named Warren Spahn to start in quest of his 20th victory against the Cubs.

Barring an unforeseen turn-about, these are the same pitchers who will be on the mound on Wednesday, Oct. 2, when the World Series opens at Yankee Stadium. Ford, 10-4, will be opposed by right-hander Tom Brewer, who has a 16-12 record for the season but has beaten the Yankees only twice in his career. Spahn, 19-10, is expected to draw Bob Rush, 6-15, as his opponent.

The White Sox, who nurtured faint hopes with Thursday's 7-3, 13-inning triumph over the Washington Senators, start a three-game series at Cleveland with Dick Donovan, 16-5, facing Don Mossi, 10-9. The Cardinals, whose No. 1 objective is to stay close until their three-game series in Milwaukee, Sept. 23-24-25, have Vinegar Bend Mizell, 10-8, going against Cincinnati's Don Gross, 6-9.

Otherwise, the chief interest as the races near their end, centers on the race for the NL batting title between Stan Musial and Willie Mays. Stan leads, 343 to 338, but the New York Giant star has the advantage of not having to worry about a pennant race.

The once-spectacular AL batting race is now being conceded to 39-year-old Ted Williams who has opened a 12-point lead over Mickey Mantle, 377 to 365. The White Sox kept plugging away in Thursday's only major league activity, scoring four runs in the 13th inning to cut the Yankees lead to six games. Nelson Fox, the tough little second-baseman, broke a 3-3 tie with his fourth hit, a two-run homer, and the White Sox added two more on a homer by Minnie Minoso, Jim Landis' double and Ted Beard's single.

Bob Keegan, who pitched a no-hitter against the Senators on Aug. 20, got credit for his 10th win in relief while Pedro Ramos was the loser.

Torpid Captures Little Brown Jug Pacing Stake

DELAWARE, Ohio — Torpid has returned to form and there were few around today to doubt but that he may be one of the greatest pacers of all time.

The big bay colt, from Sherwood Farms in Irvington, N. J., removed all doubt in beating a fine field on both a dry track and in the mud here Thursday, to capture the Little Brown Jug, the world's richest pacing stake.

It was, as driver Johnny Simpson said in accepting the big trophy from Gov. C. William O'Neill, "the hardest day's work I have ever had."

It had indeed been a rough afternoon for Simpson and Torpid, and the 39,000 spectators.

Torpid, behind at the start in his first heat, roared on to win in 2:00 4/5 and then after roadscrapers and graders were called out to remove the mud caused by a sudden downpour, came back to beat his old tormentor, Adios Express, in the showdown heat. His time was 2:03 2/5.

Simpson thus became the first driver ever to win this race two years in a row, having turned the trick last year with Noble Adios, in an upset. He also is the second driver to win both the Hambletonian for trotters and the Jug for pacers in one year.

Meadow Lands, owned by Hugh Grant of Bradford, Pa., and Del Miller of Meadow Lands, Pa., was a surprise winner in the second heat, which was supposed to have been Adios. Miller, driving his colt, trailed Newport Judy until the final sixteenth of a mile, then blazed to victory in 2:01, best clocking of the Jug. Torpid pocketed $27,205 in winning the Jug and boosted his lifetime earnings to $182,000.

Placings behind Torpid and amounts won were Meadow Lands $11,029, Morris Eden $7,720, Adios Empress $6,617, Maxine's Dream $6,617, Newport Judy $5,514, Great Adios $3,308, Meadow Rhythm $2,205, Duke of Wellington $2,205, and Razzle Dazzle $1,102.

Archie Moore 7-5 Choice Over Tony Anthony

LOS ANGELES — A superbly conditioned Archie Moore attempts to stave off the ravages of time tonight as he enters the ring a 7-5 choice to retain his world light-heavyweight crown against 22-year-old Tony Anthony.

For Moore, it will be the fifth title defense of the championship he won in 1952—and some say it may be the easiest.

Tall Tony has had only 35 fights in his whole life and, while knocking out 23 victims, himself has been kayoed four times.

The bout starts at 8 p. m. e. s. t. and will be nationally televised and broadcast.

"This is the chance I've been waiting for," was the final pre-fight statement of young Anthony. Last Outing Dull

If he is to win the crown he'll have to do better than he did in his last outing—a dull 10-round draw with Yvon Durelle in Detroit last June. That bout was seen on a national television show, too, and it did nothing to enhance the Anthony reputation.

Tony's biggest accomplishment to date was the three-round kayo of Chuck Spieser earlier this year. His 23 kayos mostly have been over comparative unknowns. And he has been knocked out by a couple of guys named, not Joe, but Miguel Mendivil and Jacques Royer-Creecy. Also by a pair of good battlers named Willie Troy and Bobby Boyd.

But he hasn't lost a fight since the kayo by Boyd in 1955 and, until the draw with Durelle, he had won seven in a row, with five of these knockouts.

Some say this is the crossroads for Archie. His age is some place between 40 and 44 and, by all standards, he should be through.

Cardinals Buy Two Pitchers

ST. LOUIS — The St. Louis Cardinals showed Thursday they haven't given up yet as they purchased two southpaw pitchers to carry them through the last nine games of the season and to a possible pennant.

The Redbirds were all but void of left handers, having only Vinegar Bend Mizell to tide them over. General Manager Frank Lane Thursday purchased Bob Kuzava, 16-year veteran from the International League and Morris Martin from Vancouver of the Pacific Coast League.

The Cardinals sold the contract of utility man Eddie Miksis to the American League Baltimore Orioles and requested waivers on pitcher Hoyt Wilhelm.
